Not illustrated. 1856 Excerpt: .It will be entertaining to you to have a book, and to set down what you have paid out. It will teach you accounts. It will shew you how much has gone foolishly, and so will teach you to be wiser in time to come. The duty of giving something to the poor and to other good objects is very plain. Indeed, my last letter to you was on this subject. It is just as true of you now, as it will be when you come to have thousands, if you ever should, that you are a steward of God s property, and that you must give account to him. CHAPTER XXII Did you ever take notice that some children behave themselves worst when they are abroad 1 Like little eye-servants, they are dutiful enough while their parents are looking on, but very rude and disobedient...
