

Math is a Verb: Activities and Lessons from Cultures Around the World (Paperback)

By Jim Barta, Ron Eglash, Cathy Barkley

National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, U.S., United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: N/A. Brand New Book. For most people, the word mathematics is a noun. But for many people in different cultures, mathematics is not simply something they learn in school but something they do as an intrinsic part of their everyday lives. This book is a guide for teachers who would like to enhance their mathematics instruction by integrating it with examples and activities from cultures throughout the world. It provides culturally situated examples, each linked to Common Core objectives that show how mathematics can be so much more than a story problem or an exercise in a worksheet with little or no context. The eleven chapters provide a range of activities from around the world that teach students key math concepts while introducing them to a diversity of cultures. For example: In a Mayan village in Guatemala, students use math as a means to increase the traditional corn harvest. Traditional symbols stamped on cloth in Ghana spark an exploration of geometry, measurement, and data analysis. Embroidery patterns from Bulgaria can help younger students learn about patterns, and introduce older students to fractal...

Reviews

This publication may be really worth a go through, and a lot better than other. It really is written in simple terms and never difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
